

Yuck 'n Yum

Winter 09

Villagestar G20 Dilletante

Clare Brennan

Fiona Gordon

O.B. De Alessi

Attic Archive

Kim Walker

Amy Jones

Paul Milne

David Maclean

Catherine Weir

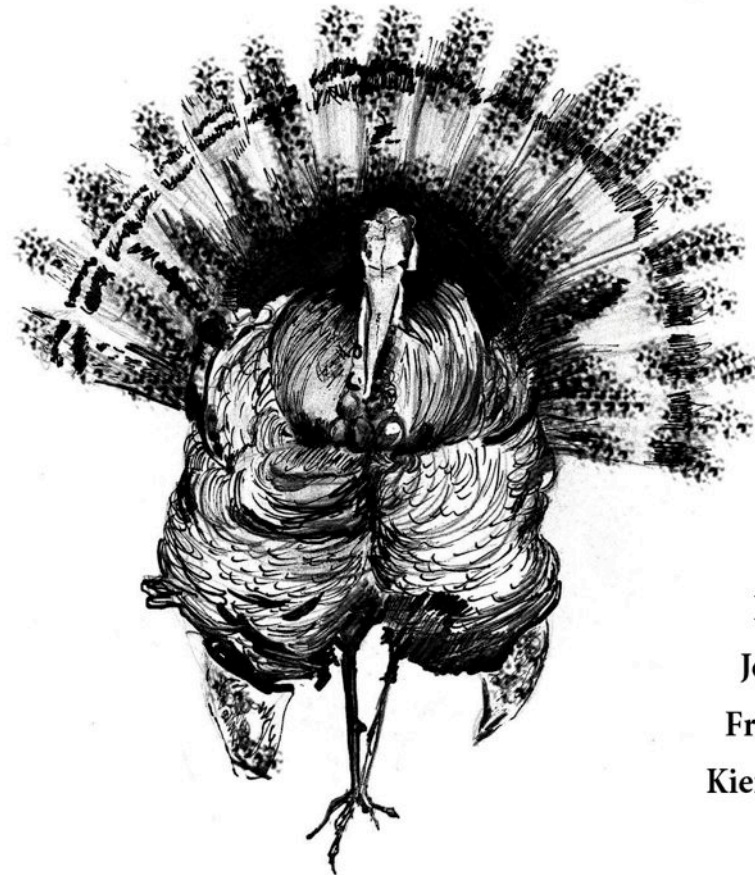

Jonathan Baxter

Holger Mohaupt

Jonathan Kelham

Fraser MacDonald

Kier Cooke Sandvik

plus

Black Acrylic and CO's
XXX online chat

www.yucknyum.com

If you have received this as a Christmas gift, you should know, the person who gave it to you paid nothing for it.

http://www.yucknyum.com/winter09/Holger_Mohaupt.html

Yuck 'n Yum

CONTENTS

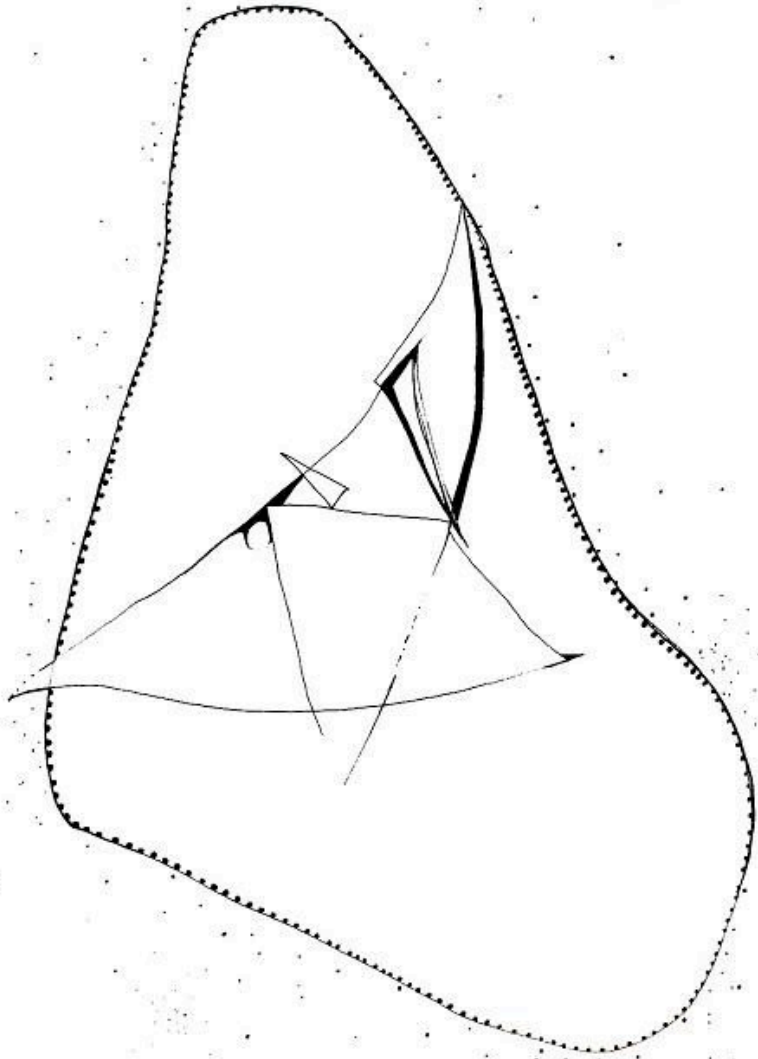

- 4 Jonathan Baxter : Neurotic Zen
- 5 Jonathan Kelham : Slide .19 Tree Series (Tree, 123 lying down, all bags, 2 water)
- 6 Amy Jones : untitled
- 7 David Maclean : collage for WOR
- 8 _Black_Acrylic, Nightridr43 and Mummy Bloghead : Trecartin @ Tramway
- 10 Paul Milne : the party was inside us all along
- 11 Catherine Weir : Untitled (it's just a thing that's all about you)
- 12 Villagestar G20 Dilletante : They Say Haircuts, We Hear Feedback
- 14 O.B. De Alessi : Self-portrait with Bubbles
- 15 Kier Cooke Sandvik : Untitled
- 16 Attic Archive : A4
- 18 Kim Walker : A Bellwater Cricket
- 19 Fiona Gordon : Discover Cellular Skincare
- 20 Fraser MacDonald : Peter Montrose, Policies in Garamond
- 21 Clare Brennan : untitled
- 22 Holger Mohaupt : to know where to stand

Policies in Garamond

- Company Concerns
- Significant Network Re-Enforcement
- Enabling Capacities
- Renewable Generation Resources
- Ability to Multiply
- Network Stability
- Optimisation Models
- Seasonal Load Curves
- Project Specification Tasks
- Preliminary Deliverables
- Voltage Regulation
- Lowest Apex Solution
- Anticipate Network Evolution
- Integration of Smart Meters
- Quality Power Delivery
- Changeable Resources

23/11/09

Start Time: 20:57:00

Online: Nightridr43, _Black_Acrylic

N43: Are you reading? N43: I think you should be typing and not reading _B: Yep I'm both typing and reading N43: mummy blog is here too somewhere _B: ORLY? _B: Hmmm where to begin N43: did you know that hurricane katrina destroyed the trecartin house and a load of his work.....
N43: what a bummer _B: Yeah he lives in Kansas now I think N43: in a house like from the wizard of oz? N43: I imagine _B: Bad for storms there too then N43: yes yes _B: He's only 27 N43: he looks younger I think N43: Pretty young for such a load of work, good work and all _B: He looks v different with no makeup N43: yeh i know N43: right?!
Mummy Bloghead has been added to the conversation MB: "If I didn't take the liberties to glue these prop knobs onto my safe space, who would you think that I'd be? MB: I declare MSN messenger space to be MY AREA N43: are you here mummy bloghead? MB: I am here! N43: we lost you _B: Mummy Bloghead in the house N43: you were in another box somewhere MB: Ah indeed MB: I might have been in another area N43: I hear you N43: M-S-N get some CONTINUITY already! MB: MSN has some area crossover I do believe _B: Right! _B: Anyone here seen A Family Finds Entertainment? N43: YES N43: once MB: I haven't but I read about it a minute ago _B: I found his YouTube channel last night N43: I like it the best I think _B: You seen YO! A Romantic Comedy? N43: Go to Whole Foods and take what is yours!!!! N43: NO MB: I haven't! _B: YO!'s pretty good. His debut _B: Still a schoolboy! N43: I'll get on it. _B: I recognise the actress from his other films _B: It's all his friends and family etc N43: philangina? _B: hmm maybe MB: I'm watching a family finds entertainment the now _B: He's doing a film about the economy next _B: In a Trecartin way MB: amazing _B: Should be v cool no doubt N43: murder on the dance floor you broke my door
MB: "Why did you delete your birthmom?" "I need to feel endless...in both directions." MB: I'm watching clips of IB Area on youtube MB: "SHIT! I'm clairvoying a total pasta melt." _B: I put loads of clips on Facebook, My friends must be sick of it MB: "You keep self-centering in my only bedroom. Shit!" _B: Tramway was the 1st time I saw RT films in a gallery MB: If you do not reign me in I shall continue to talk in quotes N43: Me 2 MB: It was the first time I had ever seen an RT film. _B: Hey Mummy Bloghead how was it for you then? MB: It was an assault on my eyes. _B: And the brain but in a good way highlighting CoBrA, Fluxus, Mail Art and Neoism with obvious and subtle strands linking publications and personalities across spans of time and geography. Much of the material was unavailable anywhere else in Scotland underscoring the rarity of the occasion. In order to make the library more domestic and textural clothing was hung on one wall and the back of the door and packaging from the 1980s was also displayed along with audio cassettes, cds and postcards. A framed drawing of a piano by John Bourke, an Irish naïve artist, and a lightbox by Karen Strang from Stirling were hung on opposing walls. The sound of a radio alternating with music from audio cassettes and cds on display contributed to the relaxing ambience and two comfortable chairs, a low table and the invigilator's table and chair completed the overall effect.

Actuality – although Open Access opened at 10.30 each day except Monday people did not drift in until after 12.00. They could be divided into 3 distinct categories – those who were completely perplexed and too intimidated or timid to flip a page or ask questions – the art lovelies who came in, ooohed and aaahed, flicked through some publications, asked obvious questions then left after rarely staying for more than 10 minutes – the informed who connected with the material and the concept and who stayed to digest and talk for longer than 10 minutes. Only one person, a Fife-based artist, returned to devote time to reading books and magazines, his presence on that occasion contributing to a 4-way discourse that achieved the kind of rare moment of shared energy that one can only hope for when staging such a situation.

Anti-climax – a negative response to a situation that may well have been a positive experience for others. Or, a psychological summation that has more to do with anticipation than actuality.

Awareness – a knowing that light has been cast upon an area of dark – that the unknown has been revealed. More people are now aware of The Attic Archive.

Appointment – a protocol that establishes a situation in which parties can meet to discuss further mutually beneficial transactions and/or agreements. To make one phone 01382 220081 or 07910315337.

A4

Attic – a studio apartment painted red, grey and white.

Archive – a collection of books, magazines, catalogues, artists' books, original artworks; artists' audio cassettes, cds, records and dvds; photographs, 35mm slides, super 8 films and vhs video; postcards, xeroxes, documentation and ephemera relating to the art practice of 3 artists - Pete Horobin, Marshall Anderson and Peter Haining - which began in 1976 and still persists.

Accessibility – the free distribution of an art product and the availability of the archive to those who have an interest in its contents.

Artist – a person who has to struggle with the inner conflict between idealism and reality and who has to overcome the apparent indifference of the majority to his/her ego-driven notions/whims/projects.

Anticipation – a positive outlook or expectation that is often based upon naïveté and hope.

Anecdote - a subjective story. Its purpose to inform without bias or prejudice, as objectively as possible.

In September 2009 The Attic Archive submitted a proposal to Cupar Arts and Heritage Project to install several publications in Bell Baxter school library. Although CAHP accepted this proposal it was not endorsed by BB. Instead a larger installation was discussed to be located in the meeting room of the YMCA. By now the project was being driven by idealism and naïveté – 2 essential forces with out which few, if any, art projects would occur. Idealism imagined that the environment would be conducive to the reading of published material and unique handmade bookworks and that there would be such a depth and variety of these as to provoke an engaging and stimulating participation by the public. Naïveté presumed that art students, festival goers and artists alike would enter this installation and spend time satisfying curiosity, absorbing knowledge and doing personal research. Over 400 pieces were selected covering a period from the 1940s to the present

I hope MB: Yeah. It did really hurt. N43: he is a grower MB: I think i prefer watching him on Youtube N43: keep watching MB: I have more control over him that way _B: It's different. Big screen's more of a headfuck N43: yeh and you can rewind it and stuff N43: It was intense. N43: My hair was frizzy by the end of it _B: Cinema's nice and communal MB: I think there were a few points where I did have to close my eyes for a bit N43: I thought you might hate it a bit mummy MB: like a lame-o _B: You can hear people LOL in the cinema, it's good MB: totally NR43: totally 2 MB43: I didn't hate it, I really liked it. I just found it so painful and exhausting _B: Nobody hated it! MB: and I kept trying to establish this narrative frame in my head but then I would be so overwhelmed by what was going on that I forgot whatever narrative arc I had made up _B: There's not really a linear narrative, AFFE has more of one MB: yeah MB: i didn't really expect there to be one, but because it was feature length I think I wanted there to be one, just so I could deal with it _B: Tommy Chat Just Emailed me was the most abstract N43: linear narratives, who needs them these days _B: True N43: theres no time for nonsense N43: pass me a cheese string MB: I also kept forgetting the characters and getting confused with who was who _B: It doesn't matter all that much N43: everyone's the same mummy, i think _B: It's all family or school MB: yeah _B: Maybe the economy is next MB: I think I wasn't sure whether to keep concentrating or to let it wash over me N43: family, school and the economy? _B: Like a trilogy of institutions? N43: i know that feeling. its a daily decision for me. MB: haha! _B: yep

End Time: 22:26:27

On 12th November 2009 Glasgow's Tramway screened two films by Ryan Trecartin: Tommy-Chat Just E-mailed Me (2006, 7:15 min), and I-Be AREA (2007, 1:48 hr).

Nightridr43, _Black_Acrylic and Mummy Bloghead are artists based in Scotland.

Ryan Trecartin's YouTube channel: <http://www.youtube.com/user/WianTreetin>

WARNING ; CONTAINS NO ACCOUNTABILITY, DO NOT ATTEMPT TO OPERATE DEMOCRATICALLY, MAY CAUSE MAY CAUSE TERRORIST REGIME

ANTI-RIOTICS

MEETS
PROTEST
HEAD ON !

STAMPS OUT DEMOCRATIC
SYMPTOMS
...HARD